Recognizing Chiropractic Family Lineage

Chiropractic families have existed since the founding of the profession, starting with the Palmers. The practice of chiropractic has been, and continues to be, a tradition that is passed on to son, daughter, brother, sister, nephew and niece. In fact, Chiropractic may have more generations of families practicing than any other health profession.

Are you a Member of a Generational Chiropractic Family?

While some families in Chiropractic have been legendary leaders in our profession, other families quietly and successfully restore health in their patients day after day, year after year. LIFE has decided it is time to recognize families that exemplify the passage of the Chiropractic torch down through their family members, generation to generation, helping to ensure the health of a nation. To celebrate and honor this history of families that have given so much, LIFE is creating the Generations wall as a tribute.

Show Your Legacy

The Generations wall will serve as “the marker” that will recognize past and current families dedicated to Chiropractic and will be “the beacon” that inspires other families to follow. The Generations wall will welcome future chiropractic students and campus visitors and dignitaries, introducing them to the power of Chiropractic and the importance of passing our profession on from generation to generation, from family to family.

Generations – Prominent Location and Structure

LIFE is building this living Chiropractic beacon within a prominent area on campus – along the main artery walkway and on a ridge overlooking Lyceum Park, just in front of the Learning Resource Center (LRC). The design will feature inter-connected glass panels rising up from a bed of river rock. A continuous cascade of water will flow down the glass panels and into rock pools, creating a glistening wall that will sparkle in the southern sunlight.

In front of the cascading water will be suspended bronze plates. The first plate will be engraved with the surname of the participating family, the name of the first chiropractor in the family and his/her alma mater and graduation date. Families can perpetuate their generational legacy by listing additional chiropractors in their family on additional plates. Future family chiropractors may be added at any time after graduation.

Generations – How Your Family May Participate

Families are eligible for participation if they meet one of three criteria: A) at least one family member graduated from the Life University College of Chiropractic, B) multiple family members graduated from LIFE University, or C) by special invitation, if family members graduated from other Chiropractic colleges.

Generations – Be a Part of It

This ground breaking project is made possible through the generous contributions of the Bend family. With five chiropractors spanning two generations, the Bend family recognized the importance of this project. Special thanks go to Dr. Amie Bend ('96) and husband Rich Giuli for their leadership gift, and for long-time LIFE supporters Dr. Richard L., Sr. (Dick) and Barbara Bend for contributing. Also, gift commitments for this project were given by Drs. Joe LaGuardia ('90) and Pam Stucky-LaGuardia ('90), and Drs. Steve and Cindy Mickelson.

Because of these leaders' generosity, the gifts received for each nameplate will be earmarked to support the building of the William M. Harris Center for Clinical Education. This Center will house the student clinic, numerous assessment rooms for chiropractic skill development and testing, an advanced digital imaging area and several classrooms and faculty offices, all creating the next level of clinical education in chiropractic.

Secure your family's place of recognition on the Generations by making a modest contribution of $2,500. Your gift may be paid in a single payment or through multiple payments of $100/month or more. Pledge payments may be paid by various family members. The nameplate will include a family's last name and the name of the first chiropractor in the family.

Families may choose to list all members in their family who are chiropractors and LIFE alumni by making additional gifts of $500/name. The additional names will be added to a second (or more) nameplate, which will be placed below the first nameplate.

Honor your family by making your gift commitment to LIFE:

- By mail: Complete the gift commitment form accompanying this brochure and mail to the address listed
- By phone: Call LIFE's Advancement Division at 770/426-2836
- By email: Scan and email the completed, accompanying pledge form to alumni@LIFE.edu

Special Considerations – The positioning of the nameplates on the Generations wall is at the discretion of Life University. Your nameplates will be placed on the Generations wall when your gift is paid in full.
